Dear Mr. Cooper;

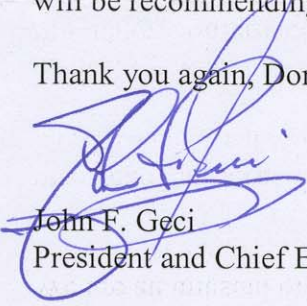

Donald, you certainly WOWed them! Yours was the highest rated presentation at our Conference for both content and entertainment.

As the Chief Executive Officer of major Trade Associations for almost ten years, I have booked many big name speakers from across North America. None of them has done a better job of delivering bottom-line business concepts with the clarity, passion and humour that you brought to our group.

We are an unusual organisation providing a wide range of products and services to a very specific customer base, and you made your message work for us. I was particularly impressed with the way you researched our organisation, interviewed our people, visited our facilities and then tailored your presentation.

Over the years, I have developed many contacts with Associations that run major Conference and Trade Show Events. You can be sure that I will be recommending you to them.

Thank you again, Donald.

John F. Geci
President and Chief Executive Officer
